Medicare levy

Low-income thresholds and phase-in limits

The Medicare levy applies only to residents. The Medicare levy low-income thresholds (at or below which no Medicare levy is payable) and Medicare levy phase-in limits are shown in the table below. If the individual's income is above the Medicare levy phase-in limits, the full Medicare levy rate is 2%.[3]

Where the income is above the low-income threshold but no more than the phase-in limit, the levy payable is shaded in such that the levy is 10 per cent of the excess of taxable income over the low income threshold.

Shown below is the low-income threshold and phase-in limit for each category of taxpayer:

Taxpayer	2025–26	2024–25	2023–24	2022–23
Individuals	$28,001 $35,013	$27,222 $34,027	$26,000 $32,500	$24,276 $30,345
Families[4]	$47,238 $59,047	$45,907 $57,383	$43,846 $54,807	$40,939 $51,173
Individuals — seniors and pensioners[5]	$44,268 $55,335	$43,020 $53,775	$41,089 $51,361	$38,365 $47,956
Family — seniors and pensioners	$61,623 77,028	$59,886 $74,857	$57,198 $71,497	$53,406 $66,757
Family[6] — for each dependent child or student[7]	$4,338 $5,423	$4,216 $5,270	$4,027 $5,034	$3,760 $4,700

3 The Medicare Levy was increased from 1.5% to 2% by the Medicare Levy Amendment (DisabilityCare Australia) Act 2013 which received Royal Assent on 28 May 2013 as Act No. 43 of 2013.

4 This represents family income with no dependants — the limit changes with the number of dependants.

5 That is, individuals eligible for the seniors and pensioners tax offset (SAPTO).

6 Whether eligible for the SAPTO or not.

7 For each dependent child or student, the family income threshold increases by the stated amount.

Medicare levy surcharge

An additional Medicare levy surcharge (MLS) is payable by taxpayers without adequate private patient hospital insurance. The MLS is calculated, depending on the individual's surcharge income, at 1 per cent, 1.25 per cent or 1.5 per cent of the sum of:

- taxable income
- total reportable fringe benefits
- any amount on which family trust distribution tax has been paid.

Surcharge income includes:

- taxable income
- reportable fringe benefits
- total net investment losses
- reportable superannuation contributions
- a spouse's share of the net income of a trust on which the trustee must pay tax under s. 98 of the ITAA 1936 and which has not been included in the spouse's taxable income
- exempt foreign employment income.

ETP caps

Tax rates applicable to ETPs

The effective rates of tax[8] applicable from 1 July 2014 to the components of an ETP for the purposes of Div 82 of the ITAA 1997 are set out in the following tables:

Recipient's age	Tax free component	Taxable component[9]
Reached preservation age	0%
■ up to the ETP cap amount		17%
■ above the ETP cap amount		47%
Below preservation age	0%
■ up to the ETP cap amount		32%
■ above the ETP cap amount		47%
Payment received by death benefit dependant	0%
■ up to the ETP cap amount		0%
■ above the ETP cap amount		47%
Payment received by non-dependant	0%
■ up to the ETP cap amount		32%
■ above the ETP cap amount		47%

8 Where a tax rate greater than zero per cent applies, the Medicare levy is also payable.

9 The rates for the taxable component include the Medicare levy.

Genuine redundancy payments

The tax-free amounts of a genuine redundancy payment (formally referred to as a 'bona fide redundancy payment') or of an approved early retirement scheme payment are:

Income year	Tax-free amount
2026–27	$13,598 + $6,801 for each complete year of service
2025–26	$13,100 + $6,552 for each complete year of service
2024–25	$12,524 + $$6,264 for each complete year of service
2023–24	$11,985 + $5,994 for each complete year of service
2022–23	$11,591 + $5,797 for each complete year of service

Note

Subdivision 83-C of the ITAA 1997 has been amended to extend concessional taxation treatment for genuine redundancy payments and early retirement scheme payments to include payments made to individuals who are 65 years or older if they are dismissed or retire before they reach pension age.[10, 11]

Type of payment	% that is assessable	Tax treatment
For that part of an unused annual leave payment that is made in connection with, or consists of a payment in relation to: ■ a genuine redundancy payment ■ early retirement scheme payment ■ the individual's invalidity, or ■ pre-18 August 1993 employment …	100%	… the person is entitled to an offset to ensure that the maximum rate of tax payable does not exceed 30% (plus Medicare levy).
For the remainder of the payment …	100%	… the amount is subject to tax at marginal tax rates.

10 The Treasury Laws Amendment (2019 Measures No. 2) Act 2019 which received Royal Assent on 28 October 2019 amended, among other things, the definitions of 'genuine redundancy payment' and 'early retirement scheme payment' by replacing the references to 'turning 65' with 'pension age'.

11 For payments made before 1 July 2007, refer to s. 26AC of the ITAA 1936.

Long service leave

Subdiv 83-B of the ITAA 1997[12]

Accrual period	% that is assessable	Tax treatment
For that part of an unused long service leave payment that is attributable to pre-16 August 1978 employment …	5%[13]	… the amount is subject to tax at marginal tax rates.
For that part of an unused long service leave payment that is made in connection with, or consists of a payment in relation to: ■ a genuine redundancy payment ■ early retirement scheme payment ■ the individual's invalidity, or ■ pre-18 August 1993 employment …	100%	… the person is entitled to an offset to ensure that the maximum rate of tax payable does not exceed 30% (plus Medicare levy).
For the remainder of the payment …	100%	… the amount is subject to tax at marginal tax rates.

[12] For payments made before 1 July 2007, refer to s. 26AD of the ITAA 1936.

[13] The remainder of this part is neither assessable income nor exempt income.

Companies

There is a two-tier system of company tax rates in Australia with a reduced tax rate applicable for entities which satisfy the definition of a base rate entity. The company tax rate for companies other than base rate entities is 30 per cent.

Base rate entities

The definition of base rate entity was amended[14] to exclude the 'carrying on a business' requirement with effect from 1 July 2017 and also to increase the aggregated turnover threshold from $25 million to $50 million with effect from 1 July 2018.

The amended definition applying for the 2017–18 and later income years is as follows:

An entity is a base rate entity for a year of income if:

(a) no more than 80 per cent of its assessable income for the income year is base rate entity passive income (BRE passive income) — i.e. income of a passive nature[15]

(b) its aggregated turnover for the income year — worked out as at the end of the year — is less than:

- $25 million — applicable for the 2017–18 income year
- $50 million — applicable for the 2018–19 and later income years.

The rate of tax applicable to an eligible base rate entity (BRE tax rate) has been reduced since the 2017–18 income year as follows:[16]

Income year	Company type	Applicable tax rate
2021–22 and later income years	BRE	25%
	Other	30%
2020–21	BRE	26%
	Other	30%
2017–18 to the 2019–20 income years	BRE	27.5%
	Other	30%

[14] The amendment was made by the Treasury Laws Amendment (Enterprise Tax Plan Base Rate Entities) Act 2018 which received Royal Assent as Act No. 94 of 2018 on 31 August 2018.

[15] The Treasury Laws Amendment (Enterprise Tax Plan Base Rate Entities) Act 2018 — which received Royal Assent on 28 August 2018 — amended the previous definition of 'base rate entity' by removing the 'carrying on a business' requirement and replacing it with the BRE passive income requirement.

[16] Prior to the 2017–18 income year, a reduced corporate tax rate of 27.5 per cent applied to companies that were small business entities. Entities were small business entities if they carried on a business in the income year and their aggregated turnover did not exceed the applicable threshold for the year, namely $10 million.

Non-profit companies

The current rates and shade-in thresholds for non-profit companies are summarised in the table below.[17]

	Applicable tax rates
Entity	Nil	55%	Corporate rate[18]

Small business entities

Instant asset write-off

Small business entities (SBEs) are entitled, under s. 328-180 of the ITAA 1997, to claim an immediate deduction for the taxable purpose proportion of the cost of a depreciating asset in the year in which the asset is acquired or installed ready for use for a taxable purpose provided that the cost of the asset is less than the specified threshold (the 'instant asset write-off').

From 1 July 2026

The threshold has been permanently increased to $20,000 for assets first used or installed ready for use for a taxable purpose from 1 July 2026.[19]

The low value pool threshold has been permanently set to $20,000 for income years that end or after 1 July 2026

The suspension of the five-year lock out rule will end on 30 June 2027.

Prior to 1 July 2026

The threshold of $1,000 for the instant asset write-off had been temporarily increased, as outlined below.[20]

An immediate deduction applies to the second element of cost expenditure incurred in these periods (up to the relevant threshold).

First used, or installed ready for use from …	Instant asset write-off threshold
7.30 pm (AEST) on 12 May 2015 to 28 January 2019	$20,000
29 January 2019 until 7.30 pm (AEST) on 2 April 2019[21]	$25,000
7.30 pm (AEST) on 2 April 2019 to 11 March 2020	$30,000
12 March 2020 to 30 June 2021	$150,000

[21] Pursuant to the Treasury Laws Amendment (Increasing and Extending the Instant Asset Write-Off) Act 2019, which received Royal Assent on 6 April 2019 as Act No. 51 of 2019.

First used, or installed ready for use from …	Instant asset write-off threshold
[assets first acquired on or after 12 May 2015 and before 30 June 2021 and for second element of cost — incurred before 31 December 2020]
1 July 2023 to 30 June 2026	$20,000

Temporary full expensing

Under s. 328-181 of the IT(TP) Act 1997[22], an SBE is entitled to claim an immediate deduction for the cost of a depreciating asset (regardless of quantum) if the SBE first starts to hold the asset, and starts to use it or have it installed ready for use for a taxable purpose, between 7.30 pm AEDT on 6 October 2020 and 30 June 2023.[23] If a deduction is available under the temporary full expensing provision, then the instant asset write-off does not apply.

An immediate deduction applies to the second element of cost expenditure incurred in that period (also regardless of quantum).

Return to the normal rules for SBEs for calculating deductions for depreciating assets

Once the temporary expensing measures cease, the instant asset write-off threshold for SBEs reverts to $1,000.

First used, or installed ready for use from…	Instant asset write-off threshold
7.30 pm (AEDT) on 6 October 2020 to 30 June 2023[24] [assets first held, or second element of cost incurred, between these times]	No threshold
1 July 2023 to 30 June 2026[25]	$20,000

A small business entity can also deduct the entire balance of its general small business pool if the balance at the end of the income year is less than the applicable threshold.

22 This section modifies the operation of the instant asset write-off in s. 328-180 of the IT(TP) Act which modifies the corresponding section in the ITAA 1997.

23 The temporary full expensing of depreciating assets regime to 30 June 2023 is contained in the Treasury Laws Amendment (Enhancing Superannuation Outcomes for Australian and Helping Australian Businesses Invest) Act 2022 which received Royal Assent, as Act No. 10 of 2022, on 22 February 2022.

24 The Treasury Laws Amendment (Enhancing Superannuation Outcomes for Australians and Helping Australian Businesses Invest) Act 2022 which received Royal Assent on 22 February 2022 as Act No. 10 of 2022 extended this date to 30 June 2023.

Home office expenses

Individual taxpayers may claim a deduction for additional running expenses incurred when working from home. The deduction can be claimed on the basis of actual expenses incurred which relate to the income earning activity. Alternatively, a fixed rate method can be used to work out the deduction. The fixed rate method which has been available since the 2017–18 income year has been revised for the 2022–23 and later years.

Fixed rate for home office expenses from 1 July 2022

PCG 2023/1 outlines the methods for calculating the work-related additional running expenses incurred as a result of working from home from 1 July 2022. A taxpayer can use this method if they meet the eligibility criteria outlined in the guideline and satisfy the increased substantiation obligations.

Income Year	Rate
2024–25 to 2025–26	70 cents per hour
2022–23 to 2023–24	67 cents per hour

The fixed rate for each hour a taxpayer worked from home during the income year is intended to cover the following expenses:

- energy expenses (electricity and gas) for lighting, heating, cooling and electronic items used while working from home
- internet expenses
- mobile and home phone expenses
- stationery and computer consumables.

The fixed-rate method in PCG 2023/1 does not cover the decline in value of depreciating assets.

Fixed rate for home office expenses prior to 1 July 2022

Fixed rate method

The fixed rate[26] covers the additional running expenses incurred for:

- the decline in value of home office furniture and furnishings
- electricity and gas for heating, cooling and lighting
- the cost of repairs to home office equipment, furniture and furnishings.

Year	Rate
2018–19 to 2021–22	52 cents per hour
2017–18	45 cents per hour

Temporary shortcut method from 1 March 2020 to 30 June 2022

A shortcut method for working out the home deduction was available for the period from 1 March 2020 until 30 June 2022. The shortcut method covered all working from home expenses incurred by an individual taxpayer[27], such as:

- phone expenses
- internet expenses
- the decline in value of equipment and furniture
- electricity and gas for heating, cooling and lighting.

Year	Rate
2021–22	80 cents per hour
2020–21	80 cents per hour
1 March 2020 to 30 June 2020	80 cents per hour

[26] See PS LA 2001/6. Note that taxpayers may claim actual expenses incurred, provided the expenses can be substantiated.

[27] Note that this measure applied to employees who were working from home to fulfill their employment duties and had incurred additional expenses as a result of working from home. If a work from home arrangement was in place before 1 March 2020, then the shortcut method ouldnot be used.

Balancing adjustments

For the purposes of calculating a balancing adjustment under s. 40-370(1) on the disposal of a car, the assessable or deductible amount must be reduced to the extent that the car was not used for a taxable purpose. The reduction is required under step 2 of the method statement in s. 40-370(2).

A taxpayer who has claimed motor vehicle expenses using the 'cents per kilometre method' is required — for the purposes of the reduction in step 2 of the method statement — to assume the extent of their use of the car for taxable purpose was 20%.

28 The Treasury Laws Amendment (Tax Incentives and Integrity) Bill 2025, which received Royal Assent on 27 March 2025 as Act No. 29 of 2025, amended the definition of fuel-efficient car for the LCT, from 1 July 2025, as a car that has the maximum fuel consumption of 3.5 litres per 100 kilometres. Prior to 1 July 2025 a fuel-efficient car was defined for LCT as a car that had the maximum fuel consumption of seven litres per 100 kilometres.

Standard deduction for work-related expenses

An individual Australian resident may be entitled to claim a standard $1,000 work-related expense if they derive assessable labour income.[31] Applies for the 2026–27 income year and later years.

The standard deduction is calculated as the lesser of $1,000 and the individuals total assessable labour income produced in an income year.

The standard deduction covers the following amounts incurred in gaining or producing assessable labour income:

- general deductions
- deductions for car expenses – Div 28
- deductions relating to transport expenses for travel between workplaces – s. 25-100
- capital allowances deductions – Div 40
- balancing adjustment deductions under s. 40-285(2)
- deductions relating to repairs to premises or a depreciating asset under s. 25-10
- deductions relating to a loss or outgoing for COVID-19 tests under s. 25-125.

Note

Taxpayers with more than $1,000 in genuine work-related expenses may continue to itemise and substantiate their claims but their standard deduction is reduced to zero.

Deductions that can be claimed in addition to the standard deduction include:[32]

- deductions not in connection with earning assessable income
- specific deductions not covered by the standard deduction i.e. gifts, cost of managing tax affairs
- income protection, personal sickness and accident insurance premiums
- membership of a union or other trade, business or professional association.

Higher Education Loan Program (HELP)

Repayment thresholds and rates

HELP debt indexation factor

Training and study loans from the Commonwealth are accumulated with the balance worked out annually on 1 June every year to which an indexation factor is applied. The indexation factors applicable to loans under the High Education Loan Program (HELP debts) on 1 June 2023 and 2024 were both reduced.

Further, legislative changes[40] now mean that – with effect from 1 June 2023 – HELP indexation will be based on the lower of the Consumer Price Index (CPI) or the Wage Price Index (WPI).

HELP repayment income thresholds and repayment rates

From 1 July 2025, a person's compulsory repayments are calculated based on income earned above the minimum repayment income amount.[41] [42] The compulsory repayment is capped to no more than 10 per cent of the person's repayment income for that income year

2026–27

Repayment income[43]	Repayment amount on this income
$0 – $69,528	Nil

41 Universities Accord (Cutting Student Debt by 20 Per Cent) Act 2025 received Royal Assent on 2 August 2025 as Act No. 30 of 2025, Schedule 2 introduced a marginal repayment system for compulsory student loan repayments.

42 Minimum repayment income for an income year is $67,000, new s. 154-10 to the Higher Education Support Act 2003. The minimum repayment income will be indexed at the start of each income year after the 2025-26 income year.

43 Repayment income = taxable income + reportable fringe benefits + net investment losses + reportable superannuation contributions + exempt foreign employment income.

$179,286 and over	10% of total repayment income

Prior to 1 July 2025

A person's compulsory repayment was based on their total repayment income. If a person's repayment income was more than the minimum repayment amount, a person was liable to pay a specified percentage on the entirety their repayment income.

The repayment income thresholds and the corresponding percentages of income that must be paid in reduction of the accumulated HELP debts are set out below.

Offsets

Critical minerals production tax incentive

This incentive provides a refundable tax offset of 10 per cent of the eligible costs of processing certain critical minerals in Australia. [45]

The offset will be available to eligible companies for a maximum of 10 years between 1 July 2027 and 30 June 2040.

Hydrogen production tax incentive

This incentive provides a refundable tax offset of $2 per kilogram of eligible hydrogen[46] produced by eligible companies. The offset applies to hydrogen produced in income years commencing on or after 1 July 2027 and ending before 1 July 2040. [47]

There is no cap on the amount of offset that a company can receive under this incentive. Both the company and the hydrogen must satisfy the eligibility criteria.

Digital games tax offset

A refundable income tax offset of 30 per cent of a company's total qualifying Australian development expenditure incurred on developing new or existing digital games[48, 49] is available to eligible companies that are:

- Australian residents with an ABN; or
- foreign resident with a permanent establishment in Australia.

The tax refundable offset applies to eligible expenditure incurred on or after 1 July 2022 and which is certified by the Minister for the Arts.

Total Australian qualifying development expenditure incurred on the games in the income year must be at least $500,000.

The amount of the offset is capped at $20 million per company or group of companies, per income year.

45 The Future Made in Australia (Production Tax Credits and Other Measures) Bill 2024 received Royal Assent as Act No. 9 of 2025.

46 A reduction may occur if an entity does not comply with the rules implementing the community benefit rules for the hydrogen production tax incentive.

47 The Future Made in Australia (Production Tax Credits and Other Measures) Bill 2024 received Royal Assent as Act No. 9 of 2025.

48 As defined in s. 378-20 of the ITAA 1997.

49 Introduced by the Treasury Laws Amendment (2022 Measures No. 4) Bill 2023 which received Royal Assent on 23 June 2023 as Act No. 29 of 2023.

Early stage investor tax offset

A tax offset of 20 per cent of the amount paid for qualifying shares is available for a qualifying investor in early stage innovation companies (ESIC). The innovation tax offset is available for shares issued on or after 1 July 2016, and is capped at $200,000.

Investors who do not meet the sophisticated investor test under the Corporations Act 2001 will not be eligible for any tax incentives if their total investment in qualifying ESICs in an income year is more than $50,000.

Early stage venture capital limited partnerships (ESVCLP) tax offset

Limited partners in an ESVCLP may be eligible for a non-refundable carry-forward tax offset of up to 10 per cent of the lesser of:

- the partner's contributions to the ESVCLP for the income year; and
- the partner's investment related amount (broadly the proportionate share of the investments made by the ESVCLP).[50]

For a limited partner to be eligible for the tax offset in relation to a contribution into a ESVCLP, the ESVCLP must be unconditionally registered on or after 7 December 2015.51

Working Australian tax offset

A non-refundable tax offset is available to Australian resident individuals who earn net labour income[52] that exceeds the tax-free threshold.[53] It applies for the 2027–28 income year and subsequent income years.

The maximum working Australians tax offset (WATO) is $250.[54] It cannot be transferred or carried forward. Where income tax on a taxpayer's labour income is less than $250, the amount of the offset may be reduced to reflect the income tax which would otherwise be payable.

Low income tax offset

The LITO[55] is available to Australian resident individuals (or certain trustees)[56] if their taxable income for the relevant income year does not exceed $66,667.[57]

The amount of the LITO which is available to a taxpayer depends on the taxpayer's relevant income level, as set out in the following table:

Relevant income[58] for the 2020–21 and later income years	LITO amount
$37,500 or less	$700
$37,501 to $45,000	$700, less 5 per cent of the relevant income that exceeds $37,500
$45,001 to $66,667	$325, less an amount equal to 1.5 per cent of the relevant income that exceeds $45,000

The LITO is:

- capped[59]
- non-refundable and cannot be carried forward or transferred
- not given a specific priority.[60]

55 Enacted by the Treasury Laws Amendment (Personal Income Tax Plan) Act 2018 which received Royal Assent as Act No. 47 of 2018, as modified by the Treasury Laws Amendment (A Tax Plan for the COVID-19 Economic Recovery) Act 2020 which received Royal Assent on 14 October 2020 as Act No. 92 of 2020.

56 The offset is available to trustees if the trustee is taxed on a share of the net income of a trust on behalf of an Australian resident beneficiary who is under a legal disability for that income year, provided the amount of that share does not exceed $66,667. If the trustee is taxed on the shares of multiple beneficiaries of the trust, the trustee is separately entitled to the new offset — see s. 61- 110(3) of the ITAA 1997. A beneficiary that receives the benefit of the offset from multiple sources may have to pay additional tax to undo the benefit of having received offsets greater than the amount they would have received if they had been personally assessed — see paras. 1.20 and 1.36 of the Explanatory Memorandum.

57 Section 61-110 of the ITAA 1997.

58 Relevant income of the entity is the taxable income of an individual or the share of the net income of the trust on which a trustee is taxed on behalf of a beneficiary — s. 61-115(1) of the ITAA 1997.

59 Section 61-115(2) and (4) of the ITAA 1997.

60 Item 20 of the table in s. 63-10(1) of the ITAA 1997.

Private health insurance offset

Government may contribute to an individual's private health insurance in the form of reduced premiums or a refundable offset.

Lifetime Health Cover loading

A person who does not have private health (hospital cover) insurance on their Lifetime Health Cover base day (usually 1 July following the 31st birthday) but who later in life decides to take out private hospital cover will pay a two per cent Lifetime Health Cover (LHC) loading on top of their premium for every year they are aged over 30.

The LHC loading also applies if a person ceases to have private health insurance and then later decides to take out private health insurance again. There is an exception, known as 'Days of Absence' which permits someone to be without hospital cover for periods totalling 1,094 days (i.e. three years less one day) during their lifetime, without affecting their loading. This covers small gaps, such as switching from one fund to another.

However, if the total gap period exceeds 1,094 days, the person will pay a two per cent loading on re-joining private hospital cover. The loading increases by two per cent for every year without cover after that. The LHC is removed after 10 continuous years of private health insurance cover.

2026–27 income year

Entitlement to the private health insurance offset is income tested and depends on the age of the oldest person covered by the policy and also family status on 30 June. The income thresholds used are the same as for the Medicare levy surcharge.

The income thresholds and the rates of the Medicare levy surcharge and the private health insurance rebate for 2026–27 income year are as follows.

	Rebate entitlement by income threshold

Research and development (R&D) tax offset

For income years commencing on or after 1 July 2021[73], the expenditure threshold is increased from $100 million to $150 million, and the rates of R&D incentive are as follows:

Eligible entity type	Rate of R&D tax offset	Tax offset
Eligible entities, not controlled by tax exempt entity, with aggregated turnover <$20 million	Entity's corporate tax rate plus 18.5 percentage points premium	Refundable
Eligible entities, controlled by a tax exempt entity, where aggregated turnover is <$20 million	The company's corporate tax rate + 'marginal intensity premium'(as applicable — see below)	Non-refundable
Eligible entities with aggregated turnover ≥$20 million

'Marginal intensity premium' is the sum of the tier 1 and tier 2 amounts outlined in the following table:

Tier	R&D intensity range	Intensity premium
1	Notional deductions representing up to and including 2 per cent of total expenses	8.5%
2	Notional deductions representing greater than 2 per cent of total expenses	16.5%

Small Business Income Tax Offset

Sole traders carrying on a business or those who have a share of net small business income from a partnership or trust may be entitled to a small business tax offset. The offset is calculated based on the proportion of tax payable relating to the individual's total net small business income.[77] The aggregated turnover threshold and the rate of the offset depends on the income year of the return. The maximum offset is $1,000.

Income year	Aggregated turnover threshold	Rate of offset	Maximum offset
2021–22 and onwards	$5 million	16.0%	$1,000
2020–21	$5 million	13.0%	$1,000
2016–17 to 2019–20	$5 million	8.0%	$1,000

Superannuation related tax offsets

Offset for spouse contribution

Spouse's income[78] (A)	Maximum rebatable contributions (B)	Maximum rebate
$0 – $37,000	$3,000	18% × $3,000 = $540
$37,000 – $39,999	$3,000 – (A – $37,000)	18% of B
$40,000 +	Nil	Nil

[77] Net small business income is the sum of your assessable income from carrying on your business, minus any deductions.

[78] This includes the spouse's assessable income, reportable fringe benefits and reportable employer superannuation contributions. Any assessable First home super saver released amount or COVID-19 early release of superannuation payment is excluded.

Low-income superannuation tax offset

Applies	Income Threshold	Offset
From 1 July 2027	Less than $45,000[79]	Calculated using formula: LISTO eligibility threshold × SG charge percentage × 15% tax rate $810
Prior to 1 July 2027	Less than $37,000	15% of the concessional super contributions paid into an individual's superannuation fund up to a maximum of $500

Superannuation income stream tax offset

Tax offsets available on superannuation income stream, see page 94.

Other tax offsets

Other tax offsets that are available:

- Beneficiary tax offset — reduces the amount of tax which recipients of certain Centrelink allowances and payments and Commonwealth education allowances may have to pay.
- Invalid and invalid carer tax offset —is available to individuals who maintain an invalid or invalid carer who is 16 years old or older and a recipient of certain government payments.
- Foreign income tax offset — for foreign income tax paid on foreign income which is included in Australian assessable income
- Lump sum payment in arrears tax offset — for an individual who receive a lump sum payment in arrears
- Zone or overseas forces tax offset — zone tax offset for individuals who are residents of either specified remote areas or isolated areas of Australia; overseas forces tax offset for members of either the Australian Defence Force or United Nations armed force, who serve in a specified overseas location and income relates to services that are not specifically exempt from tax.

[79] Schedule 4 of Treasury Laws Amendment (Building a Stronger and Fairer Super System) Act 2026 amended the eligibility threshold by removing the specific reference to $37,000 and instead referring to the lowest income tax threshold (after the tax-free threshold) for the relevant income year in Part I of Schedule 7 to the Income Tax Rates Act 1986.

Incentives

Build to rent development tax incentive

Owners and investors in eligible build to rent (BTR) developments may access the following tax incentives:

The capital works deduction[80]	Accelerated rate of 4 per cent for active BTR developments[81]
Reduced final withholding tax rate on eligible fund payments	15 per cent[82] – on rental income paid on or after 1 July 2024, or an amount which is attributable to a capital gain from a CGT event that happens on or after 1 July 2024

To access the incentive, the owner must notify the Commissioner of their choice for the development to be an active BTR development.

A BTR development will cease to be an active BTR development if it fails to meet the eligibility criteria during the 15-year BTR compliance period, after making the choice, the misuse tax may apply.

Small business energy incentive

Small and medium businesses[83] can access a bonus deduction equal to 20 per cent of the cost of eligible assets or improvements to existing assets that support electrification or more efficient energy use. The bonus deduction applies to:

- the cost of eligible assets and improvements up to a maximum amount of $100,000, with the maximum bonus deduction being $20,000;
- eligible assets first used or first installed ready for use, and eligible improvement costs incurred, from 1 July 2023 until 30 June 2024.

80 Schedule 1 of the Treasury Laws Amendment (Responsible Buy Now Pay Later and Other Measures) Act 2024, which received Royal Assent on 10 December 2024 as Act No. 138 of 2024. The *Capital Works (Build to Rent Misuse Tax) Act 202*4, which received Royal Assent on the same day, imposes a misuse tax if one or both tax concessions are claimed when the BTR development is ineligible.

81 Section 43-145(2) of the ITAA 1997.

82 Section 12-450(5), (6) and (7) in Schedule 1 to the TAA.

83 As defined in s. 328-110 of the ITAA 1997 — aggregated annual turnover of less than $50 million.

Other tax incentives

The Junior Minerals Exploration Incentive allows eligible companies to generate tax credits by choosing to give up a portion of their losses from greenfields mineral exploration expenditure. These tax credits can then be distributed to investors who purchase newly issued shares in that eligible entity during a certain period. The incentive ceased on 30 June 2025.

Boosts

Skills and training boost

Small businesses[84] can claim an additional deduction equal to 20% of eligible expenditure incurred on external training provided to their employees[85]. The external training must be provided by a registered training provider.

Training expenses can include incidental costs related to the provision of training – e.g. the cost of books or equipment needed for the course – provided they are charged by the registered training provide. Notional deduction applies to eligible expenditure incurred between 7.30 pm (AEDT) on 29 March 2022[86] and 30 June 2024.

Technology investment boost

Small businesses[87] can access a bonus deduction equal to 20 per cent of their eligible expenditure incurred on expenses and depreciating assets for the purposes of their digital operations or digitising their operations[85] It applies to the total of eligible expenditure of up to $100,000 per income year, up to a maximum bonus deduction of $20,000 per income year.

The bonus deduction is available for eligible expenditure incurred between 7.30 pm (AEDT) on 29 March 2022 and 30 June 2023. The asset must be first used or installed ready for use by 30 June 2023.

84 As defined under s. 328-110 of the ITAA 1997 — aggregated annual turnover of less than $50 million.

85 Treasury Laws Amendment (2022 Measures No. 4) Bill 2023 which received Royal Assent on 23 June 2023 as Act No. 29 of 2023.

86 The ATO website explains that for eligible expenditure incurred in the period between 7.30 pm (AEDT) on 29 March 2022 and 30 June 2022, businesses with a normal balance date may claim the 100% deduction in their 2021–22 tax returns and the additional 20% deduction in their 2022–23 tax returns.

87 As defined in s. 328-110 of the ITAA 1997 — aggregated annual turnover of less than $50 million.

Employee truck drivers

Employee truck drivers who have received a travel allowance and who are required to sleep away from home may claim amounts up to the food and drink component only of the reasonable domestic daily travel allowance. The reasonable amounts are:

Income year	Salary range	Breakfast	Lunch	Dinner	Per day
2026–27	All	$32.25	$36.80	$63.45	These amounts are separate and cannot be aggregated into a single daily amount
2025–26	All	$31.15	$35.55	$61.30
2024–25	All	$30.35	$34.65	$59.75
2023–24	All	$28.75	$32.80	$56.60
2022–23	All	$26.80	$30.60	$52.75

Domestic travel allowance

The Commissioner issues an annual determination setting out the reasonable amounts for travel allowance expenses in relation to daily accommodation rates; meals (breakfast, lunch and dinner); and deductible expenses incidental to the travel.

Capital gains tax

1 July 2027 and later income years

Recent Development – 1 July 2027 and later income years

Treasury Law Amendments (Tax Reform No. 1) Act 2026 and Income Tax Rates Amendment (Tax Reform No. 1) Act 2026[88] introduce from 1 July 2027 tax reforms to CGT and negative gearing, including:

- a 30% minimum tax on real capital gains.
- replacing the 50% CGT discount for individuals, trusts and partnerships with cost base indexation
- bring pre-CGT assets (legacy assets held before 1985) into the CGT base for gains accruing after 1 July 2027. Gains on pre-1985 assets accrued before 1 July 2027 continue to be exempt from CGT
- limiting negative gearing on residential dwellings – acquired after on or 7.30pm (by legal time in the ACT) on 12 May 2026 – to new residential properties and affordable housing

Prior to 1 July 2027

CGT discount

A capital gain may be reduced by the CGT discount, provided:

- the asset was owned by an individual, complying superannuation fund or trust[89], companies are not eligible to make a discounted gain
- the owner is an Australian tax resident who held the asset for 12 months before the CGT event happened
- the cost base is not indexed and the CGT event was made after 21 September 1999
- the CGT event is not excluded from being a discountable gain, this includes CGT event D1, D2, D3, E9, F1, F2, F5, H2, J2, J5, J6, K10.[90]

Entity that owns the asset	Applicable discount rate
Individual	50.00%
Trust	50.00%
Complying superannuation Fund	33.33%

88 Which received Royal Assent on 26 June 2026 as Act No. 49 and 50 of 2026.

89 A life insurance company in relation to a discount capital gain from a CGT event in respect of a CGT asset that is a *complying superannuation asset.

90 Section 115-25(3) of the ITAA 1997.

From 8 May 2012, foreign or temporary residents are not eligible for the full CGT discount. However, they may be entitled to an apportioned discount on the capital gain if they had a period of Australian residency during ownership of the asset[91].

CGT improvement threshold

The CGT improvement threshold is relevant for the purposes of Subdiv 108-D of the ITAA 1997.

[91] Sections 115-105 to 115-120.

Foreign resident capital gains withholding

The foreign resident capital gains withholding (FRCGW) provisions[92] impose a non-final withholding obligation on the purchaser of certain Australian real property and related interests where the property is acquired from a foreign resident vendor.[93]

There are exclusions from this obligation for, among other things, CGT assets whose market value is less than the relevant threshold, and the CGT asset is:

- taxable Australian real property, or
- an indirect taxable Australian real property interest, the holding of which causes a company title interest to arise.[94]

Year	Rate[95]	Threshold
From 1 January 2025	15.0%	$0
1 July 2017 to 31 December 2024	12.5%	$750,000
1 July 2016 to 30 June 2017	10.0%	$2,000,000

92 Contained in Subdiv 14-D of Schedule 1 to the TAA.

93 Under s. 14-200(1) of Schedule 1 to the TAA, the CGT asset must be taxable Australian real property; an indirect Australian real property interest; or an option or right to acquire these types of property or interests.

94 Section 14-215(1)(a) of Schedule 1 to the TAA.

95 The amount that the purchaser is required to withhold is calculated by multiplying the rate by the first element of the cost base of the CGT asset (generally the asset's purchase price) — s. 14-200(3) of Schedule 1 to the TAA.

TD 2022/11 — Income tax: Div 7A: when will an UPE or amount held on sub-trust become the provision of financial accommodation?[97]	This TD contains the ATO view (and compliance approach) on when trust entitlements created on or after 1 July 2022 constitute the provision of 'financial accommodation'.	Applies to trust entitlements created on or after 1 July 2022
	NOTE: the majority in the High Court in FCT v Bendel [2026] HCA 18 held that a private company beneficiary which is owed a UPE and which does not call for its payment does not thereby provide financial accommodation to the trust – a UPE is not a loan for the purposes of s. 109D(3) of the ITAA 1936.[98]

97 The Decision Impact Statement (DIS) issued by the Commissioner in response to FCT v Bendel [2026] HCA 18, indicated TD 2022/11 would be withdrawn. As at 12 October 2026 it is yet to be withdrawn.

98 The Commissioner issued a DIS in response to the High Court decision, it will withdraw TD 2022/1 and review other relevant guidance. The Commissioner noted that these arrangements may have tax implications under Subdiv EA of Div 7A of Part III of the ITAA 1936 or s. 100A of the ITAA 1936.

International

Diverted profits tax

Tax is payable at a rate of 40 per cent on profits diverted offshore by significant global entities through contrived arrangements between related parties.[102]

The amount of diverted profit on which the diverted profits tax (DPT) is payable is the sum of the DPT base amounts for the DPT tax benefits in respect of the taxpayer for the relevant income year.

The DPT base amount[103] is:

Bases for identifying DPT tax benefit	DPT base amount
A tax benefit that relates to an amount that is: ■ assessable income ■ an allowable deduction ■ a capital loss, or ■ subject to withholding tax.	The amount of the DPT tax benefit
A tax benefit that relates to an amount that is: ■ a foreign income tax offset ■ an innovation tax offset, or ■ an exploration credit.	The amount of the DPT tax benefit divided by the standard Australian corporate tax rate.

[102] As defined in the Treasury Laws Amendment (Combating Multinational Tax Avoidance) Act 2017 which received Royal Assent on 4 April 2017. The 40 per cent rate is set by the Diverted Profits Tax Act 2017 which received Royal Assent on the same day. The diverted profits tax (DPT) applies to DPT tax benefits for income years commencing on or after 1 July 2017, whether or not the DPT tax benefit arises in connection with a scheme that was entered into or commenced to be carried out before that time.

Foreign investment in Australia

The foreign invetment framework[104] imposes obligations on foreign persons investing in Australia.

Vacancy fee for foreign owners

Foreign owners of residential real estate that is not occupied or genuinely available on the rental market for at least 183 days in a 12-month period (the vacancy year[105]) are liable to pay an annual vacancy fee.[106]

The vacancy fee applies to a 'foreign person' who lodges a notice or application with the FIRB to acquire a residential dwelling or residential land from 7.30 pm AEST on 9 May 2017.[107]

Assessment and amount

Liability for vacancy fee is reassessed annually, based on the use of the property over the vacancy year. The first assessable vacancy year starts on the first day that the person acquires the right to occupy the property. The foreign person must lodge a vacancy fee return with the Commissioner of Taxation within 30 days after the end of each vacancy year. A vacancy year is each successive period of 12 months, starting on the occupation days for the dwelling, during which the foreign person has continuously held an interest in the dwelling.

The amount of the vacancy fee is usually:

- for vacancy year starting on or after 9 April 2024 — double the amount of the original application fee that you paid before the dwelling was acquired[108]
- for vacancy years starting before 9 April 2024 — the amount of the original application fee paid before the dwelling was acquired.

Global minimum tax and domestic minimum tax

Global Anti-Base Erosion (GloBE) rules[126] operate to ensure that multinational enterprise groups (MNE groups) with annual global revenue of at least EUR 750 million are subject to a global minimum effective tax rate (ETR) of at least 15 per cent in each of the jurisdictions where they operate.[127]

The Assessment Act ensures MNEs within scope of the GloBE Rules have an effective tax rate of at least 15 per cent in respect of the GloBE income arising in each jurisdiction in which they operate.

The rules which ensure that all in-scope MNE Groups are subject to the minimum of 15 per cent ETR in the jurisdictions in which they operate comprise the following which are applied to an entity's Top up Tax Amount:

The Income Inclusion Rule (IIR) – applies for fiscal years beginning on or after 1 January 2024	imposed on certain parent entities of MNE Groups that are within scope of the Minimum Tax law in respect of undertaxed profits of Constituent Entities within the MNE Group that operate in low-tax jurisdictions.
The Undertaxed Profits Rules (UTPR) – applies for fiscal years beginning on or after 1 January 2025	permits other jurisdictions to impose top-up tax (by denying deductions or an equivalent adjustment) on certain Constituent Entities to the extent that a low-taxed constituent entity in the MNE Group is not subject to tax under an IIR.
The Domestic Minimum Tax (DMT) – applies for fiscal years beginning on or after 1 January 2024	allows Australia to collect additional tax on excess profits of Constituent Entities of MNE Groups located in Australia in order to bring the ETR up to the 15 per cent minimum rate.

Simplified transfer pricing record keeping

Low-level outbound loans - minimum interest rate

From 1 July 2015[133], taxpayers with a combined cross-border loan balance of $50 million or less for their Australian economic group at all times throughout a particular financial year may choose a simplified transfer pricing record keeping option for their outbound loans (Option 7 in PCG 2017/2[134]), provided that the taxpayer has assessed its compliance with the transfer pricing rules.

Subject to certain other conditions being met[135], the interest rate payable to the taxpayer on each of its outbound loans must be no less than that set out in the table below, for each of the income years in which the loan is in effect:

Income year	Minimum interest rate on outbound loans
2025–26	4.90%
2024–25	5.61%
2023–24	5.81%
2022–23	5.65%
2021–22	1.83%

[133] Or 1 January 2015 for taxpayers with a 31 December substituted accounting period.

[134] PCG 2017/2: Simplified Transfer Pricing Record Keeping Options. Note that Option 7 does not reduce the documentation requirements for: inbound related-party interest-bearing loans (and associated charges), other international related-party financial transactions (e.g. guarantees), nor other international related-party dealings.

[135] To qualify for Option 7, the following additional conditions must also be met: the funds actually provided by the taxpayer under the loan must be AUD funds, associated expenses must be paid in AUD, and the taxpayer must not have made sustained losses, nor undergone a restructure within the year.

Low-level inbound loans - maximum interest rate

From 1 July 2013, taxpayers with a combined cross-border loan balance of $50 million or less for their Australian economic group at all times throughout a particular financial year may choose a simplified transfer pricing record keeping option for their inbound loans (Option 4 in PCG 2017/2), provided that the taxpayer has assessed its compliance with the transfer pricing rules.

Prior to income years commencing on or after 1 July 2018 (or equivalent SAP), the maximum interest rate was the RBA indicator lending rate for 'small business; variable; residential-secured term'.

For income years commencing on or after 1 July 2018 (or equivalent SAP), the maximum interest rate is as follows:

Income year	Maximum interest rate on outbound loans
2025–26	4.90%
2024–25	5.61%
2023–24	5.81%
2022–23	5.65%
2021–22	1.83%

Zero emission vehicle — EV home charging rate per km

The Commissioner has developed an optional method for working out the cost of electricity when an electric vehicle (EV)[137] is charged at residential premises. As an alternative to working out the actual cost of electricity when an EV is charged at an employee's home, the Commissioner's rate is multiplied by the total number of relevant kms travelled by the EV in the relevant income or FBT year. The rate applies for FBT years commencing 1 April 2022 and income years commencing 1 July 2022[138] and may be applied when working out the taxable value of:

- a residual fringe benefit
- a car expense payment fringe benefit
- a reimbursement of car expenses
- reportable fringe benefit amount

FBT year ending	Rate per km travelled
31 March 2027	5.47 cents
31 March 2023, 2024, 2025 and 2026	4.20 cents

This rate can also be used for the purposes of working out:

- car expenses claimed using the logbook method under Div 28 of the ITAA 1997
- motor vehicle expenses claimed under s. 8-1 of the ITAA 1997.

Superannuation

Superannuation guarantee

Rate of superannuation guarantee charge (SG Charge)

The Superannuation Guarantee (Administration) Amendment Act 2012[140] amended the Superannuation Guarantee (Administration) Act 1992 (SGA Act) to increase the SGC percentage as follows[141]:

Income year	Legislated charge percentage (%)
2025–26	12.0
2024–25	11.5
2023–24	11.0
2022–23	10.5
2021–22	10.0
2020–21	9.5

Maximum contributions base

The maximum contributions base is the upper limit of an employee's earnings for each financial year for which an employer must pay SG.

From 1 July 2026

The maximum contribution base applies as an annual limit which is calculated using the following formula:[142]

$$\text{Concessional contributions cap} \times \frac{100}{\text{Charge percentage}}$$

The charge percentage is currently 12%, therefore the maximum contribution base for the 2026–27 financial year is $270,830.

Income year	Max. contribution base per quarter (per year)	Max. amount of contribution for year
2025–26	$62,500 ($250,000 p.a.)	$30,000[143]
2024–25	$65,070 ($260,280 p.a.)	$29,932[144]
2023–24	$62,270 ($249,080 p.a.)	$27,399[145]
2022–23	$60,220 ($240,880 p.a.)	$25,292[146]

Employees with multiple employers

High income individuals who receive superannuation contributions from multiple employers may unintentionally breach their concessional contributions cap. For quarters starting on or after 1 July 2018, high-income employees with multiple employers can opt-out of receiving some superannuation guarantee (SG) contributions from some of their employers and negotiate with the employer to receive additional cash or non-cash remuneration.[147]

Eligible employees who satisfy the eligibility requirement can apply to the Commissioner for an 'employer shortfall exemption certificate' to be issued to the individual in respect of a specified employer.

The effect of the 'employer shortfall exemption certificate' is to release one or more of the employers from their SG obligations for up to four quarters in one financial year

Acceptance of contributions

The SIS Regs contain the rules about when a superannuation fund may accept contributions.

Contributions made on or after 1 January 2023

A fund may accept contributions in accordance with the following table:[148]

Age	The fund may accept contributions made in respect of the member which are …
Under 55 years	(a) employer contributions[149] (b) member contributions[150]..
55—74 years	(a) employer contributions (b) member contributions (includes downsizer contributions[151])
75 years or older	(a) mandated employer contributions (b) downsizer contributions.

Note

- The work test was removed from the acceptance rules for SMSFs in respect of contributions made on or after 1 July 2022[152]
- The eligibility age for downsizer contributions was reduced from 65 to 60 years and then further reduced to 55 years. Contributions made on or after 1 January 2023

[149] Employer contributions defined in Reg 1.03 of the SIS Regs in relation to a regulated superannuation fund, a contribution by, or on behalf of an employer – sponsor of the fund

[150] Member contributions is defined in Reg. 5.01(1) of the SIS Regs as contributions by, or on behalf of, the member to the fund, but does not include employer contributions made in respect of the member.

[151] The Treasury Laws Amendment (2022 Measures No 2) Bill 2022 received Royal Assent as Act No. 84 of 2022 on 12 December 2022, together with the Superannuation Legislation Amendment (Broadening Contribution Rules) Regulations 2022, further reduced the eligibility age for downsizer contributions for individuals to 55 years.

[152] To meet the work test, an individual must be gainfully employed for at least 40 hours during any consecutive 30-day period in the financial year in which the contributions are made. This is an annual test.

Contributions made on or after 1 July 2022 to 31 December 2022

From 1 July 2022, the work test that applied to non-concessional and salary sacrifice contributions no longer applies.[153]

Age	The fund may accept contributions made in respect of the member which are…[154]
Under 60 years	(a) Mandated employer contributions (b) Voluntary contributions.[155]
60 — 74 years	(a) Mandated employer contributions (b) Voluntary contributions (c) Downsizer contributions.[156]
75 years or older	(a) Mandated employer contributions (b) Downsizer contributions.

Contributions caps

The general contributions caps are summarised in the following table:

Income year	Concessional cap	Non-concessional cap[157]
2026–27	$32,500	$130,000 / $390,000
2025–26	$30,000	$120,000 / $360,000
2024–25	$30,000	$120,000 / $360,000
2023–24	$27,500	$110,000 / $330,000
2022–23	$27,500	$110,000 / $330,000

[153] The work test was repealed by the Treasury Laws Amendment (Enhancing Superannuation Outcomes) Regulations 2022 which was registered on 3 March 2022. The work test has been removed from reg. 7.04 in the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Regulations 1994 (about acceptance of contributions — regulated funds) and the Treasury Laws Amendment (Enhancing Superannuation Outcomes For Australians and Helping Australian Businesses Invest) Act 2022 inserted s. 290-165(1A) (about the work test condition for ages 67 to 75) into the ITAA 1997. The effect of these changes is to is to make the work test a condition applicable to individuals aged between 67 and 75 for claiming a deduction for personal concessional contributions.

[154] Adapted from the table contained in Regulation 7.04(1) Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Regulations 1994.

[155] Excluding downsizer contributions.

[156] The Treasury Laws Amendment (Enhancing Superannuation Outcomes and Helping Australian Businesses Invest) Act 2022 reduced the eligibility age for downsizer contributions for individuals from 65 to 60 years. The Treasury Laws Amendment (Enhancing Superannuation Outcomes) Regulations 2022 amended the SIS Regs to allow superannuation trustees to accept such contributions.

[157] The bring-forward rules allow you (if eligible) to make non-concessional contributions of up to three times the annual contributions cap in a single year (3 x $120,000 = $360,000 in 2024–25).

Important – non-concessional contribution cap

An individual's non-concessional contribution cap will be nil if immediately before the start of the year, the individual's total superannuation balance equals or exceeds the general transfer balance cap for the year.

Contribution limits - 2026–27 income year

Item	Threshold	Application
Concessional contributions cap	$32,500	Maximum amount of concessional contributions that receive concessional treatment (taxed at 15%).
Non-concessional contributions cap	$130,000 per person / $260,000 or $390,000 per person under the 'bring forward'[158] rule	Maximum amount of non-concessional contributions that may be made without being subject to tax — provided individual has a total superannuation balance of less than $1.9 million
CGT cap amount	Lifetime limit of $1,935,000 per person	Maximum amount of contributions derived from the disposal of certain small business assets that are excluded from the non-concessional contributions cap
Transfer balance cap	$2,100,000	Maximum amount of capital that can be transferred to the retirement phase of superannuation.

[158] Eligibility for the bring-forward arrangement depends on a member's age and total super balance on 30 June of the previous year.

Contribution limits – 2022–23 to 2025–26 income year

Item	2025–26	2024–25	2023–4	2022–23
Concessional contributions cap	$30,000	$30,000	$27,500	$27,500
Non-concessional contributions cap
Annual	$120,000	$120,000	$110,000	$110,000
Bring forward rule[159]	$360,000	$360,000	$330,000	$330,000
CGT cap amount[160]	$1,865,000	$1,780,000	$1,705,000	$1,650,000
General transfer balance cap	$2,000,000	$1,900,000	$1,900,000	$1,700,000

Unused concessional contributions cap

From the 2019–20 income year additional concessional superannuation contributions can be made by utilising unused concessional contribution cap amounts from the previous year. The unused concessional contribution cap can be carried forward for five years.

This option is available provided that the individual's:

- total superannuation balance is below $500,000 just before the start of the year in which the additional contribution is made.
- previously unapplied unused concessional contributions cap for one or more of the previous five financial years

[159] Eligibility for the bring-forward arrangement depends on a members age and total super balance on 30 June of the previous year.

[160] Lifetime cap amount, which is indexed.

Downsizer contributions

Individuals may contribute up to $300,000 ($600,000 for a couple) of the sale proceeds from the sale of their main residence into superannuation, where the sale contract is entered into on or after 1 July 2018 and certain age requirements have been met.[161] [162] The dwelling must have been held by one or more of the individuals, their spouse, or their former spouse during the 10-year period preceding the disposal. The downsizer contribution will not be treated as a non-concessional contribution,[163] Provided a choice is made in accordance with s. 292-102(8) of the ITAA 1997.

Contracts for the sale of a main residence entered into …	Eligibility age
From 1 July 2018	65 years
From 1 July 2022	60 years
From 1 January 2023	55 years

First Home Super Saver Scheme

Under the First Home Super Saver Scheme (FHSSS), individuals saving for their first home who make voluntary contributions into the superannuation system can withdraw those contributions and an amount of associated earnings for use in purchasing or constructing their first home. Concessional tax treatment within the superannuation system applies to amounts withdrawn.[164]

The FHSSS applies to voluntary contributions made on or after 1 July 2017. Such contributions can be withdrawn from 1 July 2018.

The maximum amount of contributions made in any one financial year that may be eligible to be released is $15,000.

[161] The Treasury Laws Amendment (Reducing Pressure on Housing Affordability Measures No.1) Act 2017 received Royal Assent on 13 December 2017 as Act No. 132 of 2017.

[162] The eligibility age for individuals making downsizer contributions was decreased from 65 to 60 years of age. Amendments to give effect to this reduction, which takes effect from 1 July 2022, were enacted by the Treasury Laws Amendment (Enhancing Superannuation Outcomes For Australians and Helping Australian Businesses Invest) Act 2022 (which received Royal Assent as Act No. 10 of 2022 and the Treasury Laws Amendment (Enhancing Superannuation Outcomes) Regulations 2022 which was registered on 3 March 2022. The Treasury Laws Amendment (2022 Measures No 2) Bill 2022 received Royal Assent as Act No. 84 of 2022 on 12 December 2022, and the Superannuation Legislation Amendment (Broadening Contribution Rules) Regulations 2022, further reduced the eligibility age for downsizer contributions for individuals to 55 years for contracts for the sale of a main residence entered into on or after 1 January 2023.

[163] Section 292-90(2)(c)(iiia) of the ITAA 1997.

[164] The Treasury Laws Amendment (Reducing Pressure on Housing Affordability Measures No.1) Act 2017 received Royal Assent on 13 December 2017 as Act No. 132 of 2017.

The total limit on the maximum amount of voluntary contributions made from 1 July 2017 which may be eligible to be released is $30,000. This total limit on the maximum amount of contributions that may be released has been increased to $50,000 for requests made on or after 1 July 2022.[165]

The FHSSS released amount will be income in the hands of the individual, and released amounts sourced from an individual's FHSSS eligible concessional contributions will be taxed at their marginal rates, with a tax offset of 30 per cent.

The Commissioner must withhold an amount from the taxable FHSSS released amounts, at the following rates:

- the amount of tax that the Commissioner estimates will be payable by the individual in relation to the individual's assessable FHSS released amount, or
- if the Commissioner is unable to make an estimate, 17 per cent of the individual's assessable FHSS released amount.

If an individual does not enter into a contract for the purchase or construction of residential premises within the requisite period (generally 12 months) — or recontribute the required amount into superannuation within the same period — they will be liable to FHSS tax at the rate of 20 per cent on the assessable component of the amounts released.[166] The Commissioner may extend the period for entering into a contract by up to 12 months, resulting in the taxpayer having up to 24 months from the day after a valid request for release to enter a contract to purchase a residential premises.[167]

[165] On 11 May 2021, as part of the 2021–22 Federal Budget, the Government announced it will improve the operation of the FHSSS and increase the maximum releasable amount up to $50,000. Amendments to give effect to this measure, which take effect from 1 July 2022, were enacted by the Treasury Laws Amendment (Enhancing Superannuation Outcomes For Australians and Helping Australian Businesses Invest) Act 2022 which received Royal Assent, as Act No. 10 of 2022, on 22 February 2022.

[166] The First Home Super Saver Tax Bill 2017 received Royal Assent on 13 December 2017 as Act No. 133 of 2017.

[167] TR 2024/4 was issued on 16 September 2024 to provide guidance on the operation of the FHSS scheme, it replaces LCR 2018/5.

[168] Calculated as 50% ($0.50 for $1).

[169] Entitled to maximum threshold provided income is below this amount.

[170] Phasing out 3.333 cents per dollar; Assessable income + reportable fringe benefits + reportable employer superannuation contributions.

Superannuation contributions splitting

Superannuation contributions measures[171] commenced on 1 January 2006 and allow members of a superannuation fund to split their contributions with their spouse. The exact details of how the contributions-splitting regime operates are contained in regulations.

Type of contributions	Maximum proportion of contribution which may be split with spouse[172]
Taxed splittable contributions	The lesser of ■ 85% of the concessional contributions ■ the concessional cap for that year
Untaxed splittable employer contributions	100% of the concessional contributions cap for that income year

Transfer balance cap indexation

The transfer balance cap applies from 1 July 2017, it imposes a cap on the amount a member can transfer into a pension account. The earnings on these accounts are exempt from taxation.[173]

A member's transfer balance cap for the income year in which they start to have a transfer balance account is equal to the general transfer balance cap for that income year. For each subsequent income year, the transfer balance cap is subject to proportional indexation.[174]

Important

Every taxpayer will have their own transfer balance cap, depending on when they commenced the retirement phase income stream and their respective balances.

Income years	Transfer balance cap for the income year first start to have a transfer balance account
2026–27	$2,100,000
2025–26	$2,000,000
2023–24 to 2024–25	$1,900,000
2021–22 to 2022–23	$1,700,000

---

[171] The Tax Laws Amendment (Superannuation Contributions Splitting) Act 2005 received Royal Assent on 14 December 2005 as Act No. 148 of 2005.

[172] Contributions made on or after 1 July 2007.

[173] Section 294-1 of the ITAA 1997.

[174] Section 294-40 of the ITAA 1997.

Proportionally indexed transfer balance cap

The transfer balance cap is increased using the following formula:[175]

Unused cap percentage × Indexation increase

where:

indexation increase	the amount by which the general transfer balance cap for the financial year increased as a result of indexation.
unused cap percentage	1. Identifying the highest transfer balance in the individual's transfer balance account at the end of any day up to the end of previous financial year and 2. Express that transfer balance as a percentage of the individual's personal transfer balance cap that applied on the earliest day that the individual had that highest transfer balance. 3. That percentage is then subtracted from indexation increase and rounded to the nearest whole number to yield the unused cap percentage;

Division 293 tax

Div 293 tax reduces the concessional tax treatment of superannuation contributions for high income earners.

An individual's income is added to certain superannuation contributions and compared to the high-income threshold. The Div 293 tax, at the rate of 15 per cent, is payable on the excess, or on the superannuation contributions (whichever is less).

Income year	High income threshold	Rate of Div 293 tax[176]
2017–18 onwards	$250,000	15%
2012–13 to 2016–17	$300,000	15%

The tax is not payable in respect of excess concessional contributions.

[175] Section 294-40(2) of the ITAA 1997.

[176] Calculated on the excess over the threshold or the individual's taxable contributions.

Division 296 — Better targeted superannuation concessions

Division 296 reduces the tax concession available to individuals with a total superannuation balance exceeding $3 million. [177]

From the 2026–27 income year the headline concessional tax rates applying to superannuation earnings on superannuation balances:

- below $3 million – 15%
- between $3 million and $10 million – an additional 15% up to an overall 30 per cent, and
- above $10 million – an additional 10% up to an overall 40 per cent.

The thresholds will be indexed to the CPI each year.

Exceeding contribution caps

Excess concessional contributions — On or after 1 July 2021

From 1 July 2021, an individual's ECCs are included in the individual's assessable income and taxed at their marginal tax rate but they may be entitled to a tax offset equal to 15 per cent of the excess concessional contribution.[178] The tax offset reflects the contribution tax paid in the superannuation fund.

Individuals can elect to release up to 85 per cent of excess concessional contributions from superannuation.[179]

Excess concessional contributions charge — Prior to 1 July 2021

The excess concessional contributions charge (ECC charge) applied to the additional income tax liability arising as a result of ECCs being included in the individual's income tax return. The ECC charge was imposed by way of compensating the revenue for the tax being collected later than normal income tax. The charge was payable for the year a person made ECCs and applied from the 2013–14 income year to the 2020–21 income year.[180]

The ECC charge is calculated by applying the applicable rate to the additional tax liability for the ECC charge period which starts from the start of the income year in which the ECCs were made and ends on the day before the tax is due to be paid under the individual's first tax assessment for that year.

Excess non-concessional contributions

Excess non-concessional contributions result in the individual being liable to pay excess non-concessional contribution tax[182], however the individual can elect

- Release the excess non-concessional contributions from their superannuation fund plus 85 per cent of the associated earnings. The associated earnings will be included in the individual's assessable income, subject to a tax offset of 15%.
- Not to release the excess, subject to excess non-concessional contributions tax. The excess amount is taxed at the highest marginal tax rate plus Medicare levy.

[181] Historical excess concessional contribution charge rates are available ATO, Contribution caps, last updated 13 November 2024 (QC 18123).

[182] Section 292-80 of the ITAA 1997.

Associated earnings rates – excess non-concessional contributions

Individuals who choose to release non-concessional superannuation contributions made from 1 July 2013 which are in excess of the non-concessional contributions (NCC) cap for 2013–14 and later income years must also include an associated earnings amount in their assessable income.

The associated earnings amount is calculated to approximate the amount earned from the excess NCCs while they were held in the superannuation fund. The applicable rates are as follows:

Income year	Annual rate	Associated earnings rate / daily rate
2025–26	10.75%	0.02945205%
2024–25	11.33%	0.03104110%
2023–24	11.19%	0.03057377%
2022–23	9.46%	0.02591781%
2021–22	7.04%	0.01928767%

2025–26	$260,000	$1,865,000
2024–25	$245,000	$1,780,000
2023–24	$235,000	$1,705,000
2022–23	$230,000	$1,650,000

[183] Lifetime limit, reduced by amounts previously applied to the cap.

[184] Applies to each superannuation plan from which a person receives super lump sum member benefit.

Minimum annual payments for superannuation income streams

A minimum amount is required to be paid each year for pensions or annuities started on or after 1 July 2007 (there is no maximum amount).

Age	2023–24 income years onwards	2019–20 to 2022–23 income years (50% reduction)[185]
Under 65 years	4.0%	2.0%
65–74 years	5.0%	2.5%
75–79 years	6.0%	3.0%
80–84 years	7.0%	3.5%
85–89 years	9.0%	4.5%

1 July 1962 – 30 June 1963	58
1 July 1963 – 30 June 1964	59
On or after 1 July 1964	60

[185] The temporary 50% reduction for the 2019–20 income years was enacted pursuant to the Coronavirus Economic Response Package Omnibus Bill 2020 which received Royal Assent on 24 March 2020 as Act No. 22 of 2020. This was subsequently extended to the 2022–23 income year by the Superannuation Legislation Amendment (Superannuation Drawdown) Regulations 2022 which were registered on 1 April 2022.

Departing Australia superannuation payment (DASP) rates

Temporary residents, including working holiday makers (WHMs), who work in Australia and have superannuation contributions paid by their employer, are entitled to claim their superannuation benefits once they leave Australia and their visa expires or is cancelled.

This payment is called a departing Australia superannuation payment (DASP). The rates of tax applied to the DASP depend upon the make-up of the payment. The DASP tax rate for WHMs increased from 1 July 2017.[186]

Component of DASP	Ordinary tax rate	WHM tax rate
Ordinary element
Taxed element	35%	65%
Untaxed element	45%	65%
Payment that is a roll-over superannuation benefit
The amount of the element that is not an excess untaxed roll-over amount	45%	65%

Taxation of superannuation income stream

Age of recipient	Element taxed	Element untaxed
60 years or more	Not assessable, not exempt income	Taxed at marginal rates, with a 10% tax offset
At or above preservation age and under 60 years	Taxed at marginal tax rates Tax offset of 15% is available	Taxed at marginal rates No tax offset
Under preservation age	Taxed at marginal tax rates, with no tax offset Tax offset of 15% is available if a disability super benefit	Taxed at marginal rates No tax offset

[186] The Superannuation (Departing Australia Superannuation Payments Tax) Amendment Act (No. 2) 2016 — which formed part of the Government's package of amendments concerning WHMs — received Royal Assent on 2 December 2016 as Act No. 94 of 2016. The Act superseded the Superannuation (Departing Australia Superannuation Payments Tax) Amendment Act 2016 — which received Royal Assent on the same day — and reflected the Government's original intent to increase the DASP rate for WHMs to 95 per cent.

Safe harbour interest rates for LRBAs

Recent Development

For arrangements entered into on or after 10 August 2026, SMSFs are banned from using limited borrowing arrangements (LRBAs) to acquire residential property which is not 'business real property'.[191]

Safe harbour interest rates in respect of LRBAs are as follows:[192]

	Safe harbour interest rate
Income year	Real property	Listed shares or units
2025–26	8.95%	10.95%
2024–25	9.35%	11.35%
2023–24	8.85%	10.85%
2022–23	5.35%	7.35%
2021–22	5.10%	7.10%

[191] Business real property is defined in s. 66(5) of the SIS Act (about acquisitions of certain assets from members of regulated superannuation funds which are prohibited) as certain interests in real property which 'is used wholly and exclusively in one or more businesses (whether carried on by the entity or not) …'

[192] The interest rate is the Reserve Bank's Indicator Lending Rate for banks providing standard variable housing loans for investors. For the 2016–17 and later years, it is the rate for the month of May immediately prior to the start of the relevant financial year — see PCG 2016/5.

Shortfall interest charge

The shortfall interest charge (SIC) was introduced on 29 June 2005 for amendments of income tax assessments for the 2004–05 and later income years. The SIC replaces the general interest charge (GIC) and applies to income tax shortfalls for the period before assessments are amended.

The SIC is imposed at a rate four percentage points lower than the GIC, i.e. at the base interest rate plus an uplift factor of three per cent.

Note

The GIC:

- continues to apply to tax shortfalls in amended assessments for the 2003–04 and earlier income years regardless of when those amendments are made
- applies from the due date of the original assessment
- also applies to the original assessment and to any tax shortfalls (amended assessments) and associated SIC from their due date if they are not paid by that date.

Penalty unit amount

The value of a penalty unit for the purposes of a Commonwealth law or a Territory Ordinance is, unless the contrary intention appears, as set out in s. 4AA of the Crimes Act 1914 (Cth).

The penalty unit was indexed on 1 July 2026 and will be indexed each third 1 July after 1 July 2026 using the formula in s. 4AA(4) of the Crimes Act and published by the Minister in a notifiable instrument.

The dollar amount that is increased as a result of indexation applies only to offences committed on or after the indexation day.

For offences committed on or after	Value of a penalty unit
1 July 2026	$364[194]
7 November 2024	$330[195]
1 July 2023 to 6 November 2024	$313[196]
1 January 2023 to 30 June 2023	$275[197]
1 July 2020 to 31 December 2022	$222[198]

[194] Crimes (Amount of a Penalty Unit) Instrument 2026 registered on 16 June 2026 as F2026N00424.

[195] The penalty unit was increased from $275 to $330, with effect from 7 November 2024 by the Crimes and Other Legislation Amendment (Omnibus No. 1) Bill 2024 which received Royal Assent on 24 October 2024 as Act No. 93 of 2024.

[196] This is the indexed amount on 1 July 2023 calculated in accordance with s. 4AA(3) of the Crimes Act 1914

[197] On 12 December 2022, the Crimes Amendment (Penalty Unit) Bill 2022 which received Royal Assent as Act No. 82 of 2022, increased the penalty unit from $222 to $275, indexed every three years to the CPI. The increase to the penalty unit value applies to offences committed on or after 1 January 2023.

[198] Applies to offences committed on or after 1 July 2020: s. 4AA(8) of the Crimes Act 1914 (Cth).

Late lodgment penalties

Penalties are imposed for failure to lodge or report by a particular date.

This includes income tax returns, activity statements, FBT returns, PAYG withholding annual reports, annual GST returns, annual GST information reports.

Size of entity	Maximum penalty
Small Neither medium nor large	1 penalty unit per 28-day period or part thereof for which a document is overdue up to a maximum of 5 penalty units:
Medium ■ Medium withholder (annual withholding more than $25,000 but not more than $1 m) ■ Assessable income or current annual turnover of more than $1 m and less than $20 m	2 × base penalty per 28-day period or part thereof which a document is overdue up to a maximum of 5 penalty units
Large ■ Large withholder (annual withholding more than $1million) ■ Assessable income or current annual turnover of $20 million or more	5 × base penalty per 28-day period or part thereof which a document is overdue up to a maximum of 5 penalty units
Significant global entity A global parent entity with global annual income of $1 billion or more A member of a consolidated group whose global parent entity has an annual global income of $1 billion or more	500 × base penalty[199] per 28-day period or part thereof which a document is overdue up to a maximum of 5 penalty units

[199] The Treasury Laws Amendment (Combating Multinational Tax Avoidance) Bill 2017 — which received Royal Assent as Act No. 27 of 2017 on 4 April 2017 — increased the late lodgment penalty for an entity that is a significant global entity' to 500 times the base penalty amount, with effect from 1 July 2017. A 'significant global entity' is broadly, a global parent entity, or a member of the global parent's consolidated group for accounting purposes, where the global parent entity has annual global income of AU$1 billion or more.

Tax shortfall penalties

All sections referred to in the table below are in the Taxation Administration Act 1953.

Culpable behaviour	Base penalty %	Base penalty increased/decreased if …
		Disclosure made		Hindrance
		Before audit (80% reduction)	During audit (20% reduction)

Tax avoidance by significant global entities[201]	100 (25)*	20 (5)*	80 (20)*	120 (30)*
Profit shifting — no dominant tax avoidance purpose (s. 284-160)	25 (10)*	5 (2)*	20 (8)*	30 (12)*
Profit shifting by significant global entities[201]	50 (10)*	10 (2)*	40 (8)*	60 (12)*
* The rates of penalty in brackets apply if the taxpayer has a reasonably arguable position.

Fuel tax credits

Fuel tax credits are paid to reduce or remove the incidence of fuel tax levied on taxable fuels. The amount to which an eligible claimant is entitled depends on the rate of excise or excise-equivalent customs duty, when the fuel is acquired and the activity in which the fuel is used. Fuel tax credits are usually claimed through a BAS. Fuel tax credit rates are indexed twice yearly in February and August.

[200] This percentage is doubled for an entity that is a 'significant global entity' from 1 July 2017: Treasury Laws Amendment (Combating Multinational Tax Avoidance) Act 2017.

[201] On 11 December 2015, the Tax Laws Amendment (Combating Multinational Tax Avoidance) Act 2015 received Royal Assent as Act No. 170 of 2015. The Act doubled the previous administrative penalties for schemes if the entity is a 'significant global entity'.

A entity that claims less than $10,000 in fuel tax credits in one year can choose simpler ways to keep records and calculate claims.

[221] The road user charge rate for gaseous fuels per kilo gram rate will increase from 38.5 cents per kilogram in 2023–24, to 40.8 cents per kilogram in 2024–25, and to 43.2 cents per kilogram in 2025–26. Currently, the road user charge reduces fuel tax credits for gaseous fuels to nil.

From 1 July 2022 to 30 June 2023

[222] From 1 November 2019, this rate includes fuel used to power passenger air-conditioning of buses and coaches.

[223] From 30 March 2022 until 28 September 2022, businesses using fuel in heavy vehicles for travelling on public roads will not be able to claim fuel tax credits as the road user charge (RUC) exceeds the excise duty paid. This is due to the halving of excise and excise equivalent customs duty rates for petrol, diesel, and all other petroleum-based products except aviation fuels. This temporary reduction is in place for 6 months, and applies from 30 March until 28 September 2022.

[224] Claims for packaging or supplying fuel can use the 'all other business uses' rate for the appropriate eligible fuel type.

State taxes

Payroll tax

Payroll tax is a state or territory tax. Generally, payable if an employer's total Australian wages exceeds the relevant threshold. The payroll tax rates and thresholds vary between states and territories.[225]

The payroll tax year is from 1 July to 30 June.

Important

States and territories have harmonised a number of key areas of payroll tax administration. However, there are still variances and nuances to payroll tax in each state and territory, therefore it is essential to consult the relevant revenue office to understand an entity's payroll tax obligations in each state or territory.

Mental health levy

Queensland implemented a mental health levy on 1 January 2023. [227]

A mental health levy applies to employers and groups of employers who pay more than $10 million in annual Australian taxable wages.

[226] From 1 July 2026, a new payroll tax rate of 6.5% applies to employers, and members of payroll tax groups, with Australia-wide wages of $100 million or more. The 5.5% rate applies to all other employers

[227] Revenue Legislation Amendment Bill 2022 received Royal Assent on 30 June 2022 as Act No. 14 of 2022, amended the Payroll Tax Act 1971 to insert the mental health levy to commence from 1 January 2023.

[233] The progressive payroll tax scale that was implemented in the 2017–2018 Budget from 1 July 2018 to 30 June 2023 ceased. A diminishing threshold will apply for employers or groups of employers with annual taxable wages in Australia between $1 million and $7.5 million

[234] The Payroll Tax Relief (COVID-19 Response) Act 2020 (WA) exempts from WA payroll tax: (a) payments made to employees under the Federal Government's Jobkeeper scheme — for wages paid in the period 30 March 2020 to 27 September 2020; (b) wages paid in the period 1 March 2020 to 30 June 2020 by employers or groups with Australian taxable wages of less than $7.5 million in the 2019–20 financial year; and (c) wages prescribed as exempt for the purposes of alleviating the economic effects of COVID-19 — for such period as is prescribed.

Land tax

Land tax is an annual tax that is payable by land owners to state and territory governments.

Important

Exemptions and/or surcharges may apply depending on the owner of the land and type of property. The laws vary between states and territories, therefore it is essential to consult the revenue authority for each state to determine land tax obligations.

Australian Capital Territory

Land tax is assessed quarterly, based on the status of the property on 1 July, 1 October, 1 January and 1 April.

The land tax payable is made up of a fixed charge and a valuation charge. The total valuation charge for the year is calculated by applying a rating factor to the AUV. The AUV is the average of the property's unimproved value over up to 5 years.[235]

Commercial property has not been subject to land tax in ACT since 1 July 2012.

[247] The State Taxation Acts Amendment Bill 2023 which received Assent on 27 June 2023 as Act No. 18 of 2023, amended the Land Tax Act 2005 to increase the land tax surcharge for absentee owners from 2% to 4% and to decrease the tax-free threshold for land held by an absentee owner to $50,000.

[248] From 1 January 2020, a 2 per cent absentee owner surcharge (previously 1.5 per cent from 1 January 2017, and 0.5 per cent for the 2016 land tax year) on land tax applies to Victorian land owned by an absentee owner. From 1 January 2018, a vacant residential land tax of 1 per cent of the capital improved value of residential property is payable if the property in the inner or middle ring of Melbourne is left vacant for more than six months in a calendar year. Due to the Coronavirus, the Victorian government is offering a full waiver of 2021 vacant residential land tax liabilities that would ordinarily apply to residential properties in Melbourne's inner and middle suburbs that were vacant for more than six months in 2020.

Windfall gains tax

Victoria

The windfall gains tax (WGT) applies to uplifts in land value resulting from amendments to planning schemes within the meaning of the Planning and Environment Act 1987 (Vic) that take effect on or after 1 July 2023. The WGT is payable by the owner of the land when the liable rezoning (WGT event) occurs.
